Foreword

iTELL conference 2022, with the theme Online Learning: then, now, and future directions, was hosted by Universitas Mercu Buana Yogyakarta (UMBY) with the support of the British Council Indonesia as the primary sponsor.

iTELL conference 2022 was special because it was conducted face to face just after the covid 19 pandemic. This conference was the moment where teachers met face-to-face and shared valuable ideas and experiences doing entire online teaching during the pandemic.

It was participated by more than 220 delegates from around Indonesia, mostly teachers teaching in junior and junior high schools and universities. This conference was a combination of sharing different ideas and experiences on using technology in teaching and learning a language. There were four plenary sessions, four featured speakers, 13 workshops, and more than 110 parallel presentations.

This publication presents some papers in the plenary sessions, featured speaker sessions, workshops and parallel sessions. All these papers provide various ideas and experiences blended into the conference. We hope this publication could contribute to the issues surrounding Technology Enhanced Language Learning at different levels.

Finally, we would like to thank all speakers who shared their great ideas and experiences. Thank you to all delegates who have come and participated in this conference. We also would like to present our gratitude to the organiser from the Faculty of Teacher Training and Education, English Education Study Program, Universitas Mercu Buana Yogyakarta, for making this conference a success.

Dr. A. Gumawang Jati, M.A.
